KING - LOCKWOOD
 The ~~Lockwood~~ King-Lockwood House c. 1855 is a two story five bay by one room frame house on Sandy Bottom Road and south of Earleville, Md. The house has a southwestern exposure with the main gable running northwest/southeast.

The main block has a two story T-Kitchen wing to the north. The wing rests on a full fieldstone foundation with only a crawl space under the main block. The entire structure has been covered with aluminum siding over weatherboard and the medium sloped tin roof has a simple boxed cornice at its base.

The south (Main) facade has five openings on the first floor with a central entrance but there are only four windows on the second floor. There is no central sash. The front door has been replaced but the 6/6 sash windows remain. A shed porch covers the central three bays and is supported by champhered posts and scrolled brackets.

The south end has a single 6/6 sash on each floor with tow four pane attic lights that flank the end brick stove stack. The north end has no first or second floor sash but the attic is lighted by two four pane lights that again flank the interior end brick stove stack. The eaves are extended.

The rear kitchen wing is two bays across by one room deep with a single story shed porch addition on the south side and a two story shed roof addition on the north side. The gable end is basically plain with two four pane attic lights and more recent first floor lights. The access to the kitchen basement is through the porch floor.

The interior of this house was not inspected but not particularly important due to its predictable woodwork. An enclosed central stair rises between the two adjacent rooms.

A few farm structures remain north of the house. They include a four bay wagon shed, corn crib, large barn, water tower, windmill. The water tower is typical of ones found with vertical ribs with cast iron stays. (Braces) It has a conical roof with simple wooden pinnacle.
